Care Management

A geriatric care management agency can assist with finding resources, making decisions, and managing stress. A Care Management Team will conduct an initial assessment to identify the needs of both the senior and the family caregivers. In doing so, this helps seniors maintain physical functionality and their right to self-independence. A geriatric care manager may be a social worker, nurse, gerontologist, counselor, or other professional. Some of the services a care manager may provide include:

- Care Plan
- Resource Referral Services
- Ongoing support for families and caregivers

The Heritage Tradition

Enjoy an enriched approach to independent living that is far more than just a 'senior apartment,' this is independent living on another level—an abundance of opportunities for social connections, cultural, educational, recreational, and wellness activities, and the comforts and conveniences that simplify life. Amenities like those you might find in a favorite vacation destination, from fine cuisine to fitness, to housekeeping and transportation services, offer everyday indulgence and ease. Flourishing, in the truest sense of the word. What if you need some extra support at some point? That's where our unique approach to assisted living comes into play.

"Kari is an amazing resource and partner in finding care for my dad. She listens and is vested in the families she supports, and follows up after placement to ensure it's a good fit for your family member. I would highly recommend her and Gentle Hearts for any support you need, whether it be placement of your loved one or in-home care."
